

Thoughtless male survival guide

“Are you a Frog or a Prince?” Quiz

By Christian Finnegan & Lance Romance A Lot

Is your idea of a great Valentine a “His and Hers” tool box? Do you consider a romantic evening to be a bucket of wings served on the couch while watching the Big Game?

If these sound familiar, you are at risk of getting sent to the doghouse for yet another Valentine’s.

Never fear! This year, set yourself free of all those gift-giving bumbles with our invaluable Thoughtless Male Survival Guide, written by comedian Christian Finnegan! Discover great advice, helpful hints, absolute DONTs and more. There’s no need to be the loneliest frog in the pond this year—take our Thoughtless Male Survival Guide to heart and you’re guaranteed to be crowned her prince!

Are you a frog or a prince?

So you think you're some kind of stud, do you? Think nothing in this little guide for "thoughtless males" could possibly apply to you? Well, time to prove it. Take this little quiz, courtesy of 1-800-FLOWERS.COM®, to find out whether you're a prince of passion or some sort of romantic reptile. Yes, I know: frogs aren't reptiles. But amorous amphibian doesn't have much of a ring to it. Anyway, on to the test!

1. When you hear the words "Valentine's Day," you think:

- A) "Wow, what a fantastic opportunity to show the woman I love how much she means to me!"
- B) "Wow, what a fantastic opportunity to get my wife/girlfriend off of my case for a few weeks!"
- C) "Wow, what a fantastic opportunity to pick up desperate, attention-starved chicks!"

2. You take your wife out for a romantic Valentine's dinner. The restaurant you choose features:

- A) Ambient lighting and soft music, an extensive wine list and an award-winning chef.
- B) Bob Seger on the jukebox, fifteen beers on tap and an award-winning darts team.
- C) A neon sign reading "18 AND OVER", four different varieties of buffalo wing sauce and waitresses in hot pants.

3. What's the most interesting thing you've ever given on Valentine's?

- A) A diamond engagement ring placed upon a satin pillow surrounded by orchids.
- B) A $4.99 box of chocolates (that you'd already taken the liberty of "sampling").
- C) Something that required penicillin to get rid of.

4. What is your idea of a romantic getaway?

- A) A surprise trip to a remote Bahamian island, where you and your special lady spend a week walking along pristine beaches, sipping rum punch and kissing tenderly in the moonlight.
- B) A weekend escape to the Poconos, where you spend two days sitting uncomfortably in a heart-shaped Jacuzzi and feeding quarters into the vibrating bed.
- C) A rendezvous in the parking lot behind TGI Friday's, where you spend twenty minutes in the backseat of your dad's Volvo, trying unsuccessfully to unhook your girlfriend's bra.

5. Nothing melts a woman's heart like poetry. Knowing this, you attempt to seal the Valentine's deal by reciting your favorite love poem. The first line reads:

- A) "By night, Love, tie your heart to mine, and the two together in their sleep will defeat the darkness..."
- B) "How do I, um, love thee? Let me count the...um...wait, I wrote this down..."
- C) "There once was a man from Nantucket..."

Scoring:

Give yourself three points for every time you answered A, two points for every B, and for each C? One measly point, bro.

13-15 Points: Congratulations, you suave devil: you're officially a prince. No, not "the" Prince, but a prince nonetheless. Unless, of course, you happen to be 5'2" and have a fondness for wearing butt-less chaps. Anyway, the point is, you seem to have your romantic priorities in order—that, or you're just really good at faking it. Either way, good for you.

8-11 Points: Your heart is in the right place but you're a bit on the clueless side, pal. Regardless of what you've been told, it's really not the thought that counts. If you don't pick up your game soon, you'll be spending next Valentine's Google-stalking your high school prom date. Assuming you're not already doing that, of course.

0-7 Points: Wait...you're kidding, right? Dude, this is a joke quiz. You really scored less than eight points? Geez, I don't know what to tell you. Best of luck with that GED, my froggy friend.